Introduction

With this information booklet, we would like to welcome you as a tenant at Damgade-kollegiet in Sønderborg.

The purpose of this booklet is to inform future tenants of all applicable matters concerning our accommodations.

This booklet contains a great deal of practical information. Therefore, we have divided this information into 3 main sections

- What you ought to know when moving in
- What you ought to know during your tenancy
- What you ought to know before moving out

We recommend that you, as a future tenant, read the entire booklet. We remind you that you will be held responsible for any violation of the rules, even if you have not read them.

We remind you of our homepage where you will find further information, instructions (e.g. on how to use the phone) as well as the regulations of the different councils and associations etc.

We wish you a pleasant stay at Damgade-kollegiet.

Yours sincerely

Community expectations

The community

When you become a tenant at Damgade-kollegiet, you will automatically become part of a community of students.

It is, of course, your decision to what extent you wish to involve yourself in the community. It ranges from greeting your neighbours, to participating in the different social events such as the Christmas party, or maybe even arranging the events.

But you are part of the community in other ways also:

- You will (to some extent) get to know the people living around you – for the good as well as the bad.
- You will automatically (through the rent) help pay for any damages caused by vandalism, if those responsible for the damage are not found.
- You also help pay for communal facilities as well as events, even if you do not use the facilities or participate in the events.
- You are free to use all of the communal facilities available, such as internet access, network etc.
- The tenants' council and other councils are there for you and the other tenants. Their job is to strengthen the community spirit and to handle practical assignments.

Expectations

As a result of the above mentioned, your fellow tenants expect the following from you:

- You will do your best to keep down the expenses of Damgade-kollegiet. All tenants share the expenses through the rent.
- You will treat the communal facilities properly and clean up after yourself.
- You will do all you can to maintain a good study environment.
- You will participate in the voluntary work if you have the desire and time.
- You will give the social events your backing and make your tenancy more fun.
- You will be considerate of your fellow tenants; Limit loud music.
- You will greet any fellow tenant coming to your door, in a decent and respectful manner; it could be a council member coming to see if you would like to participate in an event, or the neighbour coming to welcome you to the community.

What you ought to know before moving in

Damage and defects

When you pick-up the keys for the accommodation you will receive a link per email with a login to where you can inform about any errors or damage in the accommodation.

At the same time you will also receive an invitation to a “moving-in-inspection”, which means that your janitor will come to your room and together with you checks that everything is OK in your accommodation.

This inspection will take place approx.. 14 days after you moved in. Please make sure to be at home on the given day and time – alternatively, contact your janitor directly to re-schedule.

Upgrading/changes

If you find that your apartment or the furniture and equipment require an upgrading, please contact the accommodation office. Without prior obtained written permission from the office, it is prohibited to upgrade or make any changes (e.g. painting) to the above mentioned. Please see the back of your tenancy agreement for further information (general regulations).

Insurance

The buildings and the furniture and equipment are insured (excl. windows and bowls). The insurance does not cover the tenants' personal valuables. We therefore strongly recommend that you take out house contents insurance, if you do not already have one, or if you are not covered by your parents' insurance.

Rent

The rent is paid in advance on a monthly basis. The rent is due by the 1st Work day in a month.

Postponement will only be given in exceptional circumstances and with compelling reason, and only after obtaining permission in writing from the accommodation office. Failure to pay the rent will result in the loss of your right of occupation.

Failure to pay the rent on time will result in a fee.

Damgade-kollegiet is affiliated with “Betalings-Service” (BS). ”Betalings-service” is a service provided by the commercial banks. If you register, they will automatically withdraw a given amount from your account and pay your rent, on a given date, every month.

Please notice that you have to register by the 3rd day of a month, in order for the service to be effective the following month.

If you do not wish to use BS, you will receive an in payment form applicable in all commercial banks in Denmark. Please notify the accommodation office immediately, if you do not receive an in payment form.

The accounting year of Damgade-kollegiet follows the school year. Normally the rent is adjusted every year by the 1st of august, subject to 3 months' notice. (Adjustments of power and heating prices may be effectuated all year round, subject to 1 month notice).

What you ought to know during your tenancy

Media / communication / information

Mail boxes and notice boards

Mail boxes (use the apartment key) and notice boards are placed on the house ends. Please turn in any incorrect delivered mail to the office or the janitor.

If you want to read advertisements, please find it in the boxes marked “Reklamer/Adverts”.

Data network

All apartments are equipped with a socket which makes it possible to plug and to link up a computer. The data network includes the Internet. All tenants may link up their computer to the data network. The cost of using the data network is included in the rent, it is therefore “free of charge” to use these facilities.

Antennas/satellite dishes

Antennas/satellite dishes and the like are prohibited.

Overall information concerning the apartments

Cleaning

The cleaning of the accommodation lies with the tenant.

Wall decorations

The list placed in the joint between the ceiling and the walls is designed so that suspension hooks (z-hooks) for pictures and the like will fit it. Hooks are available at the office.

Power relay, light bulbs, and strip lights

The fuse box and the electric meter are situated in the kitchen of each apartment. Use 10A fuses for everything. When power failure occurs, check the relay to see if it has switched off (normally the switches should be pushed up)

If you find any defects or faults to the lamps, switches or the like, please notify the office.

It is the tenants' responsibility to maintain light bulbs and the like.

Cable trays

It is prohibited to open the cable trays and electrical switches of the apartment/building.

Doors

To lock the front door you must pull the handle upwards before the key/lock can be turned. The balcony-/terrace door is locked when the handle is pointing downwards. They may be opened when the handle is horizontal. When the handle is pointing upwards, the door may be opened from the top and inwards (Ventilation). Please notice that the handle may only be turned when the door/window is closed.

Lost keys

When moving in, all keys to the apartment will be handed over to the tenant.

Tenants may choose to deposit a key at the accommodation office. It is then possible to collect the key, if needed, but only within office hours.

If tenants need their door unlocked outside of office hours, they will have to contact a licensed locksmith at their own expense.

Storage lockers

Each apartment has a storage locker situated in the basement of building B. The down way to the storage lockers is situated by B1. The apartment number is stated on the door (Use the apartment key). Objects lying about outside of the lockers will be removed without prior notice.

The hatch to the loft

Some of the apartments on the 1st floor have a hatch to the loft mounted in the kitchen, which allows the technicians and janitors to get to the technical installations on the loft. Tenants are not allowed to gain admission to the loft.

Freezer/Refrigerator (defrosting)

For the sake of the lifetime of the Freezer/refrigerator and the power consumption, it is important that you defrost the freezer in the refrigerator, when a layer of ice begins to form.

You can defrost the freezer by putting a container of boiling water in the freezer and then shut the door. The steam will then thaw the ice. Do not remove the ice with sharp or hard objects, as the freezer is easily damaged, when such objects are used.

Electric- and radiator meters

All apartments are equipped with an electric meter as well as a radiator meter on every radiator. The tenants therefore have a great influence on the amount on their power and heating bill. Every month, tenants pay a fixed amount –“on account”-(included in the rent) for power and heating.

The electric meter indicates the total consumption from the time the meter was installed. The electric meter is not capable of indicating any other information than the total consumption. However, the radiator meter indicates a variety of information e.g. the date of the reading, last year's consumption etc. (see p. 21)

The accounting year for the power- and heat consumption begins January 1st and ends December 31st. When tenants move out, or on the 31st of December - the end of the accounting year, your consumption will be balanced and settled via the rent in April. This means, that in April, your rent will either be higher or lower than normally, depending on whether you have had a higher or lower power- and heat consumption than estimated.

All meters have been sealed. The seal will be ruined if one tries to tamper with the meter. If the power- or heat consumption is below the average, with a marked difference, and the seal is found broken, the tenant will be held responsible. It is prohibited to cover up the meters.

An increase in the heat consumption may be caused by a defect thermostat. In such cases, please contact the janitor.

We strongly recommend tenants to read the meters on a regularly basis. If tenants keep a personal account over their power and heat consumption, the risk of "unpleasant surprises" will be minimized.

Radiators

Avoid placing furniture in front of the radiator, in order to allow the air to circulate. This will make it easier to regulate the heat with the use of the thermostat, without having to open the window.

Ventilation

It is important that the room is ventilated a couple of times every day. Ventilate the entire apartment for 3-5 min. It is especially important after taking a bath, cooking, or a good night's sleep. Do not hang clothes to dry in the accommodation. This will all help prevent damp damages. It is no use turning off the heat while ventilating, as the dry and warm air will be replaced with cold and damp air. It will then cost about twice as much energy, to warm up the apartment again after ventilating.

Water consumption.

Economize the use of hot water. Hot water is a large cost burden.

Please notify the janitor immediately if the tap is dripping, or if the toilet is running.

Bird feeding

Please avoid leaving bread etc. on the ground. It will attract mice, rats etc.

Smoking

At a joint residents' meeting on April 18, 2018 the participants decided the following:

You can smoke in your accommodation and at outdoor common terraces and the terrace at the party room.

Garbage collection

Smoke detector (in all apartments)

Obstructing the smoke detector is prohibited under all circumstances.

The battery needs changing if the detector bleeps. Take out the battery and put it in the office's mailbox with a note stating your name and apartment number. The janitor will then get you a new battery.

Heat meter

User Manual

The meter on the radiator is an electronic heat allocation meter that registers the heat emitted by the radiator

The meters on the radiators automatically detect heat consumption from the last billing period.

The meter shows the radiator heat given very accurately.

Error

The meter contains a number of safety factors. If the meter is damaged or otherwise “disturbed”, the display will show [ERROR] (flashing).

Do not attempt to tamper with the meter.

How the Heating Meter works

The meter on the radiator measures two temperatures:

- The room temperature (start sensor)
- Radiator temperature

The following conditions apply to the meter's measurement:

- The meter only starts when the radiator is more than 25° C
- Before the meter starts measuring the heat of the radiator, the radiator, however, must be 3° C warmer than the room temperature
- If the radiator temperature is 30° C and above, the meter measures regardless of the room temperature

Please be aware of the following if the radiator is below 30° C:

- The meter only counts if the radiator is 3° C warmer than room temperature.

This means that measures will not be made, if you have a different kind of heating than radiators (e.g. a fan heater - this device must be located so that the radiator temperature does not exceed 30° C)

- In apartments with much solar radiation following may occur: If the room temperature is very high for a very long time due to sunshine, the radiator will get warmed up. Then when the sun disappears, the air will be cooled down faster than the radiator. In this situation the radiator might get more than 3° C warmer than the air, and the meter will start measuring the heat
- The main problem regarding measuring extreme solar radiation might occur in June, July, and August.

The problem can be solved by venting the accommodation on the days when there is an unusual amount of solar radiation.

Please be aware of the following if the radiator is above 30° C:

If the radiator is more than 30° C, measurements will be made regardless of the room temperature. This is to avoid possible cheating with the measurement of heat.

Heating is not closed during Summer.

The heating system is connected to a sensor, which registers the outside temperature.

If the outside temperature increases, the heating system closes the central heating pump - and therefore you cannot regulate your heaters.
